

Caitlin Hicks

Teaching Artist-Instructor

Caitlin is a professional actor and educator originally from Troy, Alabama. Growing up in an artistic family, she inevitably fell in love with the arts herself. She began acting, dancing, and singing at a young age and, ultimately, never stopped. After completing her undergraduate degree at Troy University, she went on to receive her MFA in theatre from the University of Alabama. Since, she has continued to be a multidisciplinary artist specializing in performance and education.

For over 10 years, Caitlin has been a theatre educator for students of all ages from youth to undergraduates to adults. Sharing in her passion for this craft with students of any age and at any level brings her immense joy. She truly believes every student has a gift to share and it is her responsibility to provide each of them with a safe and positive space to do so.

Play is at the center of what we do, after all!
As Caitlin continues her career as an actor, she will also always be an educator. She is so excited to be joining the Agape Arts team and helping to foster a love for the arts in students all over the Atlanta area!
