

Jordan Rice

Teaching Artist-Instructor

Jordan Rice is an actress, filmmaker, and content creator from Atlanta, GA. Rice is the founder of More To See Productions, LLC, a film/tv production company with the focus of bringing stories from marginalized communities to the screen.

At age 11, she made audiences hold their breath in her film debut as the last little girl on the screen during the church bombing scene in Ava DuVernay's Selma. Some of her other notable film/TV work includes the character Dylan in "One True Loves", Esme in the DC Universe's "Doom Patrol", and Jackie Carson in the Apple TV+ Series, "Swagger".

Her creative work has garnered her recognition as a 2020 YoungArts Theatre Finalist and Winner and a 2021 U.S. Presidential Scholar in the Arts Semifinalist. Rice is thrilled to continue developing her artistry and expanding the artistic space for more artists of color in the future. To follow her journey follow her on ~~—~~Instagram @ActressJordanRice #ThatGirlBeActing